

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY & COMPUTER LAW

Attorneys in our Intellectual Property and Computer Law Group are specialists in copyright, trademark, service mark, and trade secret law. We advise our clients with respect to the registration, protection and assignment and transfer of their intellectual property and confidential and proprietary information and infringement issues. In addition, attorneys practicing in our Intellectual Property and Computer Law Group also advise our client's with respect to website development and hosting agreements, terms and conditions of use statements, disclaimer statements and privacy policies and domain name registration and matters relating to the protection and assignment of domain names. Our attorneys also have expertise in drafting and reviewing software license and development agreements, and advising our clients with respect to source and object code escrow arrangements.